

Race Report by Mike Abraham

Botsford!

At the top of Botsford Hill, Jeff Sheldon paused for a water break and took a glance at the hill he'd just climbed. And thirteen year-old Stosh Davis was right there. Jeff had to work the next six miles to be sure Stosh didn't catch up. Jeff turned in a 71 minute flat performance, and Stosh put aside any questions of whether he could handle the distance. Brian Vanderheiden and Eric Krebs gave chase to Stosh, and turned in formidable performances – all clocking sub 6:50 performances.

On the women's side, Theresa Krebs and Alison Masopust worked in tandem to enjoy the lengthy distance and share the best time. Everyone, from Jeff through Dan Ambruso agreed that aside from the marathon, this is our toughest course. It should be noted that the finish this year – a second turn onto River Road and finish up the Jeep Trail – was a change from recent years, and that the jury is still out whether the Series likes this better compared to the South Street finish.

Meanwhile in the Alternate Race, Luke Farrell enjoyed a victory on the popular Jeep Trail 3.95 course, with a time of 29.03. Clearly, a good morning's workout was had by all who showed up on this clear October morning.

Special, special thanks this morning goes to those who volunteered. Bob Lewis put out mile markers and directional arrows, and Charlie Euston set up water stands, and received help from Paul Butler. Chris and Larry Deming manned the finish line, and thanks to anyone else we may have missed.
